In terms of protecting his goal, Mamardashvili's 8.4 'goals prevented' in La Liga in 2023-24 was the best out of all goalkeepers in the league.

Indeed, so far at this tournament, the giant 23-year-old has been one of their best players, repelling shot after shot in their three group-stage matches so far.

I wouldn't be surprised to see him move this summer, Ahmed - though it will take a lot of money to buy him!

If Spain's passing combinations down one side of the pitch are halted by the opponent's defence, they look to switch the ball quickly to the other side to try to put their winger in a one-vs-one situation or create an overload using the full-back.

Looking at the number of attempted switches of play — which is defined by Opta as any pass that travels at least 60 per cent of the width of the pitch — Spain's 7.5 per game was the second-most of all teams competing in the Euro qualifiers after Georgia (8.1).

In terms of successful switches of play, their 6.5 per game topped the charts.

Meanwhile, eight of the 18 goals Georgia conceded on their way to Germany came from crosses or cutbacks from the wide areas. Despite defending in a back five, Georgia's Achilles' heel seems to be the flanks.
